

Definition: A service can control input and output of sulfate injection